1982 POP Membership Directory

This issue of VOX POP contains the annual directory of members of Political Organizations/Parties. POP membership has grown steadily to 204 members, an increase of about 10 percent since last year. While most have paid their $3.00 dues for 1981-82 and are members in good standing, some have not. The membership application form on the last page discloses the membership status of the addressee. If you have not paid your 1981-82 dues, please do. If you wish to change your special fields of interest for the next membership directory, please fill out the form and mail with or without a check, according to your membership status.

The directory lists members alphabetically and by fields of special interest according to the categories they checked on the POP membership form with a limit of eight choices. The table below tallies members' choices over all 85 available categories, thus indicating the distribution of interests within POP. The most popular specialties were 38 ELECTIONS/ELECTORAL SYSTEMS and the general field of 60 AMERICAN POLITICS: AREA/LEVEL/ERA -- both checked by 24 percent of POP members. The third choice was 00 ORGANIZATION: PURPOSE/ACTORS/STRUCTURE, favored by 20 percent of the membership. Following closely were 26 VOTING BEHAVIOR, 10 ORGANIZATION: PROCESS, 21 POLITICAL PARTICIPATION, 54 ALIGNMENT/DEALIGNMENT, 04 ELITES/LEADERS, 53 REFORM/RENEWAL, and 81 WESTERN DEMOCRATIC -- all checked by at least 15 percent of the membership. This listing of POP members by subject specialties and the corresponding list of mailing addresses may promote the exchange of ideas among scholars with similar interests and should help program organizers identify relevant scholars outside their familiar circles. The POP mailing list is also available for purchase at $40 by publishers who wish to target advertisements to this special audience. Think about this for your next book and have your publisher contact Kenneth Janda at Northwestern University. (Profits will go to the POP treasury.)

Panels on Parties and Other Organizations at the 1982 APSA Convention

David Mayhew (Yale University) served on the 1982 APSA Program Committee in charge of the Section on "Political Parties and Other Political Organizations." The current issue of PS reports these panels in the context of the overall program. The list below pulls together all the papers accepted for the seven panels in the Section for parties and political organizations. Mayhew reports that two of the seven panels are on political action committees, the subject most often suggested by people writing in to propose papers. One of these PACs panels will supply an occasion to honor Louise Overacker for her exemplary work on campaign finance. The 1982 Convention has as a minor theme, "Political Science: Assessing the State of the Discipline." Each section of panels on the program has a panel reviewing the state of research on the section topic. The first panel below is the "theme panel" for the parties and political organizations section.

1. THE STATE OF THE DISCIPLINE: AMERICAN POLITICAL PARTIES (Saturday 10:45 am)
 "The Scholarly Commitment to Parties," Leon Epstein, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee
2. INTEREST GROUPS (Friday 1:30 pm)
 "Low Income Constituencies and Federal Policy: The Cases of Welfare Rights and Community Health," Alice Sardell, Queens College
 "Interest Groups, Social Movements, and the Bureaucracy: School Politics in Illinois," Kennette Benedict, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

"The Washington Lobbyists--Two Decades Later," Kay L. Schlozman, Boston College, and John Tierney, Georgetown University

3. ORGANIZATIONS WITH EXPERTISE: ROUTES TO THE MASS PUBLIC (Saturday 8:45 am)
  - "The Changing Role of Advertising Agencies in Political Campaigns," David B. Hill, Texas A+M University
  - "Polls, Pols, and Parties," C. Anthony Broh, Rutgers University
  - "The Implications of Direct Mail for Political Organizations," R. Kenneth Godwin, University of Arizona, and Robert C. Mitchell, Resources for the Future
4. POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEES: PATTERNS OF CONTRIBUTIONS (Sunday 8:45 am)
  - "Counting the Cash: PAC Contributions to Members of the House of Representatives," Candice J. Nelson, Georgetown University
  - "How Does Labor COPE? Labor Unions and Congressional Campaign Finances: 1970-1980," John C. Green, Furman University
  - "The Political Economy of Political Action Committees," Richard McGaw, Arizona State University
5. DIRECT PRIMARIES (Saturday 3:30 pm)
  - "Primary Reform as Participatory Incentive: Party Renewal in a Changing American Political Universe," Peter F. Galderisi, Utah State University
  - "A Theory of Southern Democratic Factionalism," Earl Black, University of South Carolina
  - "Ideology and Momentum in Presidential Primaries," Larry Bartels, University of California at Berkeley
6. IN HONOR OF LOUISE OVERACKER, AN EXAMINATION OF CAMPAIGN FINANCE: POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEES--OPERATIONS AND IMPLICATIONS (Thursday 3:30 pm)
  - "Accountability in Political Action Committees: Who's in Charge?" Frank J. Sorauf, University of Minnesota
  - "The Corporate PAC Experience: Implications for Public Policy," Edward Handler, Babson College
7. PARTY ORGANIZATION (Friday 3:30 pm)
  - "Competing for Power in the Illinois Republican Party," Mildred A. Schwartz, and Stephanie Rusnak, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle
  - "Democracy in British and American Parties," Patricia Sykes, Yale University, and Gerald M. Pomper, Rutgers University
  - "Party Cohesion in the States: Intra-Party and Party-Government Linkages," Cornelius P. Cotter, James L. Gibson, and John F. Bibby, University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, and Robert J. Huckshorn, Florida Atlantic University

POP Activities at the APSA Convention

For the second year, POP will sponsor its own panel at the APSA Convention to supplement the official program. Our panel will be held at 10:45 a.m. on Friday, September 3:

ROUNDTABLE ON POLITICAL ORGANIZATION THEORY, NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Chair: Kay Lawson, San Francisco State University; Presentations:

- "Cross-National Measures of Party Organization," Kenneth Janda,
Northwestern University
- "The Structural Analysis of Political Conflict Groups," Andrew Nathan,
Columbia University
- "Collective Organizational Goals and Membership Mobilization," Wayne Peak,
Colorado State University

POP will also have a Business Meeting at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday. All POP members are urged to attend to share their ideas on new directions in which our subfield might move and to suggest additional services that it can provide. We hope to have some news about the APSA's developing policy toward organized subfields like POP.

Status Report on Proposed Journal

In early 1980, POP's Secretary, Kay Lawson (San Francisco State), took the leadership in developing a proposal for a new journal, Political Organization, to reflect and serve the scholarly interests of our membership. In conjunction with Jerome Mileur (University of Massachusetts at Amherst), she approached MIT Press with a formal proposal. Answering MIT's questionnaire, they noted that no American journal focuses on all forms of political organizations. Moreover, existing political science journals, when they publish related articles, have a bias toward survey methods, quantitative analysis, the current, and conventional politics. Political Organization "would focus more broadly on political groups, institutions, and structures, more specifically on law, reform, and change, and embrace greater diversity of method--historical, theoretical, etc." Offered as a model was Legislative Studies Quarterly, a fine journal that has helped define the field it serves.

The Journals Editor of MIT Press, Ann Reinke, was quite interested in the project and undertook her own investigation of the potential manuscript pool, the possible circulation, and the general growth of the field. Lawson stimulated additional support for the journal from prominent scholars and built up quite a correspondence file with Reinke during 1980 and 1981. Unfortunately, we learned just before the 1981 APSA Convention and our last Business Meeting that MIT Press would not undertake the publication of Political Organization due to existing commitments and difficult economic times. However, Reinke promised to provide the positive results of their feasibility study for approaching other publishers.

Having done more than her share in promoting the journal project, Lawson requested that someone else in POP try his or her hand at finding a publisher and asked Ann Reinke to forward her material to Kenneth Janda, the new Chair of POP. Reinke sent the material along with a very supportive letter last January 11. In MIT's opinion, the proposed journal might be able to capture from three to five percent of the circulation of existing journals. "Further, we felt that over five years the journal, with a recognized imprint, would establish a good institutional base, even though libraries are increasingly resistant to new journals." Due to other duties, this matter has laid dormant for some weeks, but letters are going out to journal managers that Reinke suggested at the University of Chicago, John Wiley, Johns Hopkins, Wisconsin, Texas, Princeton, Yale, and North Carolina. If POP members have any ideas on publishing Political Organization, please write. A progress report will be made at the Business Meeting of Political Organizations/Parties in Denver this September.
